BLOOD + VITELLUS

Is the only recorded history of the fate of the two tribes,
The BLOOD and The VITELLUS.

THE BLOOD - A Hunter Gatherer Tribe — Nomadic — Leaves No Trace Upon The Land.

THE VITELLUS - Farmers, Builders of Cities and Walls.

THE WAR - Started after the Statement of Independence — Preceding Recorded Histories.

THE SICKNESS — Carried by the birds — viral warfare is set free.

SHORTAGE — The hunger for soldiers demanded a breeding season.
Unofficially known as the High Breeders Time.

THE FALLEN — Revolution is hatched from the ranks of the young of both the Tribes.
To turn from the path of war is to have Fallen Down.

THE LIGHT EVENT — Created by the Tribes Elders to quash the Fallen.

THE FOREST PEOPLE — Mythical forms created to deter the young from entering the forests.
After the Light Event, the Fallen leave the cities to live under the protection of the forest canopy.

THE FATE OF THE TWO TRIBES — Was to grow old, wither and die.

A people without a future, with no younger generation to pass on the fact that they ever existed.

HISTORICAL TIMELINE - PART ONE

The two tribes issue a Statement of Independence.
Historically assumed to mark the start of the WAR.

The war has always been, cities are walled in,
food shortages force the need to find alternative sources of protein.

The draft requires that children are harvested to join the men on the front line.

Home sickness and memories of mothers haunt a soldiers nights.

The hunger for soldiers demanded a breeding season -
unofficially known as the High Breeders Time.

Viral warfare is launched via the birds
